Name: _____ Date: _____

Possessives come in two flavors and children need both. One kind sits in front of the thing owned: my shoe, her coat, their house. The other kind stands on its own, with no noun after it: that one is mine, this is hers. Same idea, different word shape, and the second kind is later.

What to expect: "Mine" arrives early and gets used for everything, including as a subject ("mine is broken" for "my one is broken"), which is fine. Expect "hers" and "theirs" to be late, and expect invented forms like "hisself" or "mines" - those are the pattern being applied, not a lack of it.
